round with wonder, and led the way

CHAPTER XXVIII.

(Continued Tomorrow Afternoon)

Everything for Your

Sunday Dinner

Fresh Vegetables

GREEN, CORN.

GREEN BEANS

PEAS

CUCUMBERS

BELL PEPPERS

GREEN CHILE.

TOMATOES

BEETS

OKBA

VOUNG RADISHES

ONIONS

Fruits

DEED STRAWBERRIES CANTALOUPES

ORANGES

APPLES.

PLUMS

PEACHES

WATERMELONS

PRESH POTATO CHIPS

Just Received.

CRAB MEAT

LOBSTER

SALMON

SHRIMP AND LUNA

FISH POR SALAD

BATAVIA SPECIAL BLEND

TEA FOR ICED-TEA

HENS

BROILERS

VEAL

BEEF

PORK

MUTTON

In the Meat Department,

One Phone Call Brings in

All

44 524

109-111 North Second St.

Phones 44 and 524

HAMMAINIC

was, not far away,

The Land of Broken Promises

A Stirring Story of the Mexican Revolution

DANE COOLIDGE states of "The Pophing Pant," "Midden Wester," "The Yexform," Em-

Illustrationely DON J. LAVIN

opyright, ills, by Frank A. Mussey. (Continued from Yesterday.)

He paces once and forth, smoking flercely at brown-paper cigarettes, and and dreamed, and with the dreams still the sleep came back. The thun- came the desire for sleep, the cry of higher and turned to black; they let spoke softly to him, calling him by down skirts and fringes and sudden stabs of lightning, while the wind far away. sucked in from the south. And then, down beside her and they sat out the him. them than a sharing of cover, a patient sweep of wind and rain. When they rose up there was a bond between thom and they thrust and parried no of falling water and the crash of lightning overhead. When the storm was and the sun came out they smiled at each other contentedly without fear or what such smiles may mean.

They Thrust and Parried No More.

CHAPTER XXVII.

As the sun, after a passing storm, tomes forth all the more gloriously, so the joy of their new-found friendship changed the world for Bud and Gra-The rainbow that glowed against the retreating clouds held forth more than a promise of saushine for them. and they conversed only of pleasant things as they rode on up the trail.

The dangers that still lay between them and the border seemed very remote now, and neither gave them a thought. There was no one in all the wide world but just these two, this man and woman who had found them-

Twenty miles shead lay the northern pass, and from there it was ten more talk was like that of children, inconsequential and happy. They told of the times when they had seen each other, and what they had thought; of the days of their childhood, before they had met at Fortuna; of hopes and fears and thwarted ambitions and all the young dreams of life.

Rud told of his battle-searred father. and their ranch in Arizona; of his mother and horse-breaking brothers, and his wanderings through the West; Gracia of nor mother, with nothing of her father, and how she had flirted in order to be sent to school where she could gaze upon the upstanding Amerleans. Only Rud thought of the trail and scanned the horizon for rebels, but he seemed more to seek her eyes than to watch for enemies and death.

They rode on until the sun sank low and strange tencks struck their traff from the east. Bud observed that the horses were shod, and more tracks of mounted men came in beyond. He turned sharply toward the west and fellowed a rocky ledge to the bills. without leaving a hoof-print to mark the way of their retreat.

Those bont prints brought liud back from the land of dreams in which he had been wandering to a realisation of the dangers that birked about them. But a little way ahead was tho puss they must cross, and he suddealy realized that they could not unfoly do se fu the broad light of day. He must not take such chances.

of toxing his new found harpiness. By the signs the land ahead was full of bandits and ladrones, men to wnom human life was nothing and a woman

no more sacred than a brute. At the camp was a lost belief them, and page all trails converged, from the orth and from the south. Not by any die, when sudden's the watchful Copchance could a man pass over it in the per bottom jumped and a man rose up daytime without meeting some one on from the ground. the way, and if the base revoltesos more than a ned to restrain them. So, in a sheltered ravine they acusht he gave him an answer. cover until it was dark, and while home is which this woman now sleep gained the trail. ing beside him was the queen. He dreamed of years to come with unto the modeurest tendinged helianos Thoughts of Phil and thity to you at all." his pardner were far away. Nothing on the plain below served to distract him from this dream of happiness. As far as he could see there was nothing that savored of danger for the woman in his keeping. There were no sounds or signs of either federal or revolutionary troops, from from both of which he must guard pass. Again they were in a world that was all their own, an Eden with but one man and one woman.

For an hour and more he watched derelouds over the mountains rose nature for rest. Gracia stirred, then name, and her voice was as music

When she awoke and found him nodwith a slash of rain, the shower was ding Gracia insisted upon taking his Now that she had been re-At the first hig drops Grapia stirred freshed her dark eyes were bright and uneasily in her sleep. She started up sparkling, but Bud could hardly see. as the storm burst over them; then, as The long watching by night and by day Hud picked up the saddle-blankets and had left his eyes bloodshot and swolspread them over her, she drew him len with lids that drooped in spite of If he did not sleep now he storm together. But it was more to might done in the saddle later, or ride blindly into some rebel camp; so he enduring of the elements, and the made her promise to call him and lay at sumup-what if they should meet down to rest until dark.

The stars were all out when he reached the pass awoke, startled by her hand on his hair, but she reassured him with a series of cat steps; Gracia's roan came word and led him up the bill to their scrambing behind; and then, just as lookout. It was then that he under-stood her ellence. In the bris' hours a level spot, they suddenly found them during which he had slept the de selves in the midst of a camp of Mexserted country seemed suddenly to icans-men, saddles, packs, and rifles, have come to life.

By daylight there had been nothing to suggest the presence of men. tled down upon the land it brought in a hurry!" out the glimmering specks of a hundred camp-fires to the east and to the lenged a bearded man as he sprang up north. But the fires to which Gracia from his brush shelter. pointed were set fairly in their trail, and they harred the way to Gadaden. er, still politely, but motioning for to wake you, but the fires have sprung up everywhere. These last ones are hearded leader, terning furiously upon right in the pensi

"When did you see them?" anked nel? Stop him!"

are more, and more!"

They were friends, there in the rush frailing water and the crash of lighttos?"

Who do you take they are asked until, as the sun came up, they beheld the summit of the pass.

"Like as not," muttered Bud, gasing encampment to encampment up the last incline. "But whoever they are," he added. "they're no friends of ours. We've got to go around them. "And if we can't?" suggested Gra-

'I reckon we'll have to go through, then," answered Hooker grimly. "We frightened girl. don't want to get caught here in the "Keep behind morning."

"Ride right through their camp?" gasped Gracia.

"Let the sentries get to aleep," he went on, balf to himself. "Then, just before the moon comes up, we'll try to edge around them, and if it comes to a showdown, we'll ride for it! Are you game?

He turned to read the answer, and she drew herself up proudly. "Try met" she challenged, drawing mearer to him in the darkness. And so they stood, side by side, while their hands clasped in promise. Then, as to Gadsden, but they spoke neither of the night grew darker and no new the pass nor of Gadsden nor of who fires appeared, Hocker saddled up the would be awaiting them there. Their well-fed horses and they picked their way down to the trail.

The first fires were far ahead, but 'they proceeded at a walk, their horses' feet falling sitently upon the sodden Not a word was spoken and they halted often to listen, for others, too, might be abroad. The distant where men rose to feed them.

The braying of burros came in from the flats to the right and as the fugitives drew near the first encampment they could hear the voices of the night guards as they rode about the horse herd. Then, as they waited impatient ly, the watch-fires died down, the guards no longer sang their high fal-setto, and even the burros were still. This was their opportunity. If they were to get through that line of sleeping men it must be done by stenith. Should they be discovered it would mean one man against an army to protect the woman, and the odds, great or was the drst to yield. as they were, must be taken if need

It was approaching the hour of midnight, and as their horses twitched resrein and rode ahead at a venture.

At their left the last embers of the fires revealed the sleeping forms of men; to their right, somewhere in the darkness, was the night herd and thu herders. They lay low on their horses' necks, not to east a silhouette against the sky, and let Copper Bottom pick

With ears that priched and swiveled. and delicate postrils sauffing the Moz | tean taint, he plodded along through the for the men that were behind the the greazewood, divining by some in. American, staring blankly at the hearstinct his master's need of care. The

Bud had straightened up in the sad-

"Who goes there?" he mumbled. once sel eyes on Gracia it would take gwaying sleeplly above his gun, and down the trail. Hooker reined his horse away before

"None of your business," he growled Gracia slept, the heavy-headed Bud impatiently. "I am going to the pass. watched the plain from the heights | And as the sentry stared stapidly after him he rode on through the bushes. As he watched he dreamed of a neither hurrying nor halting until he feet. To the northeast the smoke han-

> "Good luck!" he observed to Gracia. when the camp was far behind. 'He took me for an officer and never gav

"No. I hattened myself on my pony, answered Gracia with a laugh. thought you were leading a pack

"Good," chuckled Hooker; "you did fine! Now, don't say another wordbecause they'll notice a woman's voice -and if we don't run into some more both of which they were fleeing, and of them we'll soon be climbing the

They had passed through some per flous moments, but Gracia had hardly realized the danger because of the assurance of Hooker, who was careful not to frighten her unnecessarily. But it was an assurance which he had not felt himself, and he was not yet certain of their safety.

The waning moon came out as they left the wide valley behind them, and then it disuppeared again as they rode! into the gloomy shadows of the canyon. For an hour or two they plodded slowly upward, passing through parrow defiles and into moonlit spaces. and still they did not mount the sum-

In the cast the dawn began to break and they spurred on in almost a panic The Mexican paisanes count them selves late if they do not take the trail some straggling party before they

Bud jumped Copper Bottom up a all scattered at their feet.

"Buence dias!" saluted Bud, as the blinking men rose up from their But now as the velvet night set- binnkets. "Excuse me, amigos, I am "A donde va?" A dende va?" chal-

"To the pass, senor," answered Hook-

"Look!" she said. "I did not want Gracia to ride on shead. "Adies!" "Who is that man"" believed the

"Where is my senti-

his followers.

Sooker, his head still heavy with that it was tee late to stop him. Bud "Have they been there long?" | laid his quirt across the rump of the "No; only a few minutes," she an- roan and spurred forward in a dash for swered. "At sundown I saw those over | cover. They whisked around the point to the east-they are along the base of a hill as the first scattered shots of that big black mountain—but these | rang out; and, as a frightened sentinel flashed up just now; and see, there jumped up in their path Bud rode him down. The man dropped his gun to "Some outfit coming in from the escape the fury of the charge and in north," said find. "They've crossed a mad clatter they flung themselves over the pass and camped at the first at a rock-slide and scrambled to the bench above. The path was rocky, "Who do you think they are" asked but they pressed forward at a gallor

"We win!" cried Bud, as he spurred

As he looked over the top he exploded in an oath and jerked Copper Bottom back on his haunches. The leader of a long line of horsemen was just coming up the other side-there was no escape and then back at the

"Keep behind me," he commanded "and don't shoot. I'm going to hold lie jumped his horse out to one side nd landed squarely on the rim of the Gracia drew her horse in beridge. hind him and reached for the pistel in her holster; then both together they drew their guns and Bud threw down on the first man.

"Go on!" he ordered, metioning him forward with his head; "pr-r-ronto! He jerked out his rifle with his left hand and laid it across bis lap. "Hurry up now," he raged, as the startled Mexican halted. "Go on and keep a going, and the first man that makes a break I'll shoot him full of

He sat like a statue on his shining borne, his six-shooter balanced to shoot, and something in his very presencethe bulk of his body, the forward thrust of his head, and the burning hate of his eyes-quelled the spirits of the rebels. They were a raptag lices were dying now, except a few army, mounted on horses and denkeys and mules and with arms of every known make.

It was just such an army as was overrunning all northern Mexico, such an army as had been levying tribute on the land for a century. They spread terror throughout all that great country south of the American border.

The flery glances of the American made them crings as they had always oringed before their masters, and his curses turned their blood to water. He towered above them like a giant, pouring forth a torrent of oaths and beckoning them on their way, and the lead-

With hand half-raised and jaw on his breast he struck spurs to his frightened mule and went dashing over the tively at the bits they gave them the threes, some shrinking, some protest The others followed by twoe and ing, some gazing forth villainously from beneath their broad hats. As they looked back he whirled upon them and swore he would kill the first man that dared to turn his head.

After ail, they were a generation of slaves, those low-browed, unthinking peops, and war had not made them They passed on, the whole line of bewildered soldiery, looking to tiful woman who sat so courageously

When the last had gone by Bud picked up his rifle and watched him The Markets around the point. Then he smiled grimly at Gracia, whose eyes were still London, July 17 The offerings at the wood suction sales today amount-ed to 12,576 bales, mainly crossbreits. All sections were ready buyers and The high pass and the insurrector were behind them now and the rolling the market was firm? American were eager for fine and mediun plains of Agua Negra were at their nors of the Gadaden ameliors lay like grades of crossbrods but the contiribbons across the sky, and the line merinos.

Chicago Grain.

Chicago, July 17 .- Sudden changes cooler, windy weather in the evelopment of black rust, acted as Defiance, Ariz. to Lawton, Oklis, left Prices are the highest ever known or the bullish effect of higher cafee. Besples country seceptanees are heavy on overnight bids from ie. The close was firm at he he he he deneral rains had a bearsh influ- to her grandmother in Lawton. on corn. It was said the Kans crop was almost made and that he prospect was for an immens E, the market underwent a further e off to % or the up, compared with

Oats turned downgrade with cornone of the lurgest houses in the rude was conspicuous on the selling

Scarcity of hogs made the provi-tions market strong. Pork, espe-bally, tended to buige. oming prices:

What—July, 19%c; Sept., 19%c, Corn—July, 70%c; Sept., 67%c, Oats—July, 26%c; Sept., 55%c, Pork—July, $22.80; Sept., $21.27, Lard—July, $10.27; Sept., $12.40, Ribs—July, $12.22; Sept., $15.65.

LIVESTOCK.

Karons City Livestock.

Kansus City, July 17. Hogs Respits 1,000; market higher, buth, 8,30,65,000; heavy, 59,00 ts 3,05 sackers and butchers, $5,95 m 9.95 ight $5.800 9.00; pigs, $9.00 0.75. Chitle — Receipts 600; market teady; prime fed steers, $9.40 9.85; iremed beef steers, $3.00099.25 Western steers, $7.0009.50; southern steers $5.75 (5.75); cows, $1.90 (7.50); heifers, $6.50 (9.9.60); stockers and feeders, $6.25 (5.25); colves. 16.00 (y 10.00.

Sheep—Heceipts 2,000; market stendy: lambs, $3.500 2.00; yearlings, $6.250 7.00; wethers, $4.750 5.75; ewes, $4.250 5.00.

Chicago Livestock. Chicago, July 17. Hoge Receipts 2,000, market higher, buck, $8,500 light, $8.75 to 9.15; mixed, $8.65

99.15; heavy, $8,50 9 9,12 5; rough 5 50 9 9.65; pigs. $7,80 9.00. Cattle—Recolpts 2,000: market work: heren. $7.70872.90; steers. 16.4088.30; stockers and feeders. 5.80868.00; cows and heifers. $3.90 199.10; calves, $7.50@11.00. Sheen Receipts 10.000; market weak; sheep, $5.25@6.10; yearlings, $5.65@7.00; lambs, $6.25@185.

Lead and Spelter. New York, July 17.—Lead gutt. #2.554(2.55) spelter quiet, $4.9546

St. Lenne. July 17 - Lend stuff. $5.77761 spelter dull, $4.60. Metal Market. New York, July 17,-Copper dull of and September, $12.25@12.65 etrolytic.

Tin. firm: spot. $31.75@ 32.00.

Iron quiet, unchanged.

ling from Fort Defiance to Lawson Okla., where Grandmother Awaits Her.

ore last night on the Pecos Valley for this month. express The child arrived here yesterday on

ere. The opening which runged than No. 10. She had a hig mustin both of Athuquerque, took out a bodge with her name and her dear marriage license at the office of the followed by an all-around demand a request for help in County Clerk A. E. Walker this atmixtus her way, ninned arrows her making her way, pinted across her liny bodies, she was on her way.

and Mrs. Sinciair new that she a map in the afternoon to fortify her against the hardships of the lourney still before her. The child reaching Lawton, but if she is as well cared for as she was here she will finish the trip as shipshape as if her mother had traveled with her.

CATTLE PRICES ARE HIGHEST EVER KNOWN RECEIPTS OFF 150,000

Ransas City, July 17. Thus far this year 150,000 fewer cattle have been marketed in Kansas City than in the same period in 1913, the re-ceipts being the smallest of any sim-Traveling all alone, 6-year-old flar period in twenty years. The de-leabet Member and Juan Truitio, termoon. Station Agent Ed Sinchair took the lar mosting tomorrow afternoon at child in his care. The brought her 1 :20 in A. O. U. W. Ball. A ramto his home, where Mrs. Sincloit mane hancheon will be served.

Saturday Specials!

$2.00 AND $3.00 STRAW HATS	$ 1.00
$6.00 PANAMA HATS	3.90
$1.50 UNDERWEAR SUITS	85c
$3.00 PAJAMAS	1.35
$1.50 NIGHT ROBES	80c
HART, SCHAFFNER & MARX SUITS
WORTH UP TO $28.00, FOR	17.50
$20.00 GUARANTEED SUITS	13.50

Our Green Tag Sale is a big Success because it is a-Real Sale

SIMON STERN

Incorporated

ON SALE SATURDAY and SATURDAY NIGHT

300 Pairs Red Cross and Queen Quality Shoes

GUN METAL, TAN CALF AND SUEDE; ALL SIZES. THIS IS A GENUINE SHOE VALUE. HIGHEST CLASS SHOES IN GREATEST VARIETY, WORTH $3.50 TO $5.00 A PAIR. ON SALE FOR SIX DAYS, BEGINNING THURSDAY, JULY 16.

GREAT SPEC

AND GUN METAL. ALL STYLES AND SIZES

SIZES 11/2 TO 5, WORTH $1.25. ON SALE FOR 690

SIZES 81/2 TO 11, WORTH $2.50, ON SALE FOR $1.29 SIZES 51/2 TO 8, WORTH $2.00, ON SALE FOR 85c SIZES 111/2 TO 2, WORTH $3, ON SALE FOR

SIZES 21/2 TO 7, WORTH $3.50, ON SALE FOR $1.95

The Golden Rule Dry Goods Co.